

20 Reserve Management Units

20.1 Introduction

The identification of reserve areas and public open spaces as Reserve Management Units is the method which the District Plan seeks to identify reserves and open space resources in the District (Objective 2.4.11). These Reserve Management Units are shown in Part E – Maps (Map Series 2) and scheduled in Appendix 20.1 of this Chapter. A Reserve Management Unit recognises that such reserve areas and public open space activities may not fall exclusively within the effects anticipated by activities in the underlying zoning of these areas. Most of the land that is identified as a Reserve Management Unit is either public land administered by the Department of Conservation or land owned by Kaipara District Council.

Reserve areas and community public open spaces are important for both community well-being and environmental health. Recreational reserves and public open spaces provide for a wide range of social and recreational opportunities, while reserves for conservation purposes preserve and protect landscape and ecological values. Reserve Management Units can generally be classed as either active or passive, although many units, especially on the coast, serve both functions. Council acknowledges that both opportunities for recreation and protection of conservation values are important in the Kaipara District.

In some Reserve Management Units it may be appropriate to develop public facilities while in others it may be appropriate to limit development. Management of Reserve Management Units reflects the reasons for their protection or reservation, and the expectations of the community.

With the consent of the owner, the notation may also apply to privately owned land having potential for recreational purposes or which is already developed for recreational purposes.

The Council plans to add to its reserve stock based on the identified reserve needs of the various communities in the District. The process of requiring contributions on subdivision or development will support this (refer to Chapter 22: Financial Contributions).

The Reserve Management Unit complements the provisions of Management Plans which are required to be prepared for reserves by the Reserves Act 1977.

Council developed a Reserves and Open Space Strategy in June 2006 to provide a policy document to assist in the management of its reserves areas and community open spaces throughout the District. The Reserves and Open Space Strategy provides an action plan to achieve the desired reserves and open space outcomes and sets policies relating to information management, reserve management planning and the building of partnerships. This section of the District Plan seeks to support the implementation of this document.

20.2 Relevant Legislation

In addition to the requirements of the Resource Management Act, the management and use of reserves is controlled by the following pieces of legislation:

- Reserves Act 1997;
- Conservation Act 1987; and
- Public Works Act 1981.

Reserve Management Units include parks, reserves and public open spaces

Part A, Chapter 6 – Ecological Areas

20.3 How to Use This Chapter of the District Plan

This Chapter contains Issues, Objectives and Policies relating to the provision, protection and management of public open spaces and reserves in the Plan. The Chapter also includes Rules relating specifically to Reserve Management Units for reserve functions. These Rules only apply if you have a Reserve Management Unit on your property (or are on the property where you want to carry out the proposed activity), as shown on Map Series 2 in Part E – Maps. In any instance where the Rules in this Chapter overlap with (or duplicate) a Rule in the Zone Chapters, the Rules in this Chapter will take precedence. Other Objectives and Policies of this Chapter are put into action through Rules in the relevant Zone Chapters and the Chapter 22: Financial Contributions.

You can check if your property has a Reserve Management Unit in it. Look on Map Series 2 of the District Plan Maps

Part E, Map Series 2

If your property is not in a Reserve Management Unit the Rules of this Chapter do not apply to it

Before you use this Chapter of the District Plan, check:

- That the property for development / subdivision has a 'Reserve Management Unit' on it (Map Series 2).
- If it doesn't the Rules of this Chapter don't apply.
- If it does, you need to look at the relevant Rules of this Chapter first and then the Rules for the Zone your property is in (Map Series 1).

You may also want to look at the Objectives and Policies of this Chapter if you are doing a Plan Change or Discretionary Resource Consent (i.e. the proposed activity does not comply with the Performance Standards of the relevant Zone Chapter) to consider how your proposal contributes to the outcomes being sought (as set out in Section 20.8).

Note that Issues, Objectives and Policies that apply to the District at large are contained in Chapter 2. Any Plan Change or application for Resource Consent for a Discretionary or Non-Complying Activity should also refer to these provisions.

The Issues, Objectives and Policies within each Chapter of the Plan are presented in no particular order of importance.

In summary, if your proposal has a Reserve Management Unit on it you start by checking whether it has an adopted Reserve Management Plan prepared under the Reserves Act 1997 or a Conservation Management Strategy prepared under the Conservation Act 1987.

Section 20.9

If the Reserve Management Unit does have a Reserve Management Plan or a Conservation Management Strategy you need to consider whether the proposal meets the criteria and provisions of these documents.

If the Reserve Management Unit does not have a Reserve Management Plan or a Conservation Management Strategy you need to consider whether the proposal meets the Performance Standards and Rules of the relevant Zone for your property.

If you need to prepare a Resource Consent application for your proposed development or subdivision: Council has prepared a guide that sets out the process and information they want to assist them in processing your application. This guide can be obtained from Council's offices or their website www.kaipara.govt.nz

Part B of the Plan

20.4 Significant Issues for Reserve Management Units

20.4.1 Insufficient linkages between reserve areas to enhance biodiversity and to provide recreational opportunities and access to and along coastal areas.

It is important to recognise and protect reserves and open spaces which contribute to recreation, native biodiversity, water and soil conservation, natural features and landscape features. Providing for physical connections between such areas will enable linkages between ecosystems and will encourage and increase biodiversity. Any linkages that are established need to be carefully managed and maintained at a specific width to effectively achieve their purpose.

Part A, Chapter 6 Ecological Areas

20.4.2 Current reserve provision lacks strategic direction on location and design in terms of providing for both active recreation and Reserve Management Units infrastructure.

There is a need to understand and document community needs and desires for reserves and open space in order to adequately provide these for future generations.

Chapters 3 and 3B

20.4.3 Activities within, and adjacent to, reserve and open space areas can have adverse effects on the environment and adjoining sites. This is specifically relevant to the coastal areas within the District.

Activities on Reserve Management Units can potentially result in adverse effects on the environmental qualities of the site and adjoining properties. It is therefore important that such activities are managed in a way which avoids remedies or mitigates these effects, while recognising the importance of these areas to the community's social and cultural wellbeing.

20.4.4 Lack of Council resources for the on-going management of reserve areas and the encouragement of the community to become involved in reserve management.

It is necessary that the Council provides resources for the purposes of establishing and maintaining reserves and public open spaces in the District. The co-management of reserves and public open spaces with the Iwi and the Community is a method which will assist in achieving this. In addition, this can also be achieved by obtaining reserve / financial contributions through subdivision and land use applications where appropriate.

Chapter 22
Financial Contributions

20.5 Reserve Management Units Objectives

20.5.1 To provide for reserve and open space areas that meet the communities recreational and conservation needs. Issue 20.4.2

20.5.2 Where appropriate, to establish reserve management linkages that provide physical connections between ecosystems, in order to enhance biodiversity and recreational opportunities. Issue 20.4.1

20.5.3 To promote and provide for resources to acquire and maintain reserves. Issue 20.4.4

20.5.4 To manage adverse effects of activities within and in close proximity to reserves and open spaces, in order to avoid, remedy or mitigate adverse effects on the environment. Issue 20.4.3

20.5.5 To promote partnerships for the management of these areas involving property owners, Tangata Whenua, communities and individuals. Issue 20.4.4

20.6 Reserve Management Units Policies

20.6.1 By obtaining financial contributions at the time of subdivision: Objective 20.5.3

- In land, where there is a need for reserves to be provided within the land being subdivided; or
- In money, to fund acquisition of, or improvements to, reserves outside the land being subdivided.

Financial contributions are required where there is insufficient space within the area of land being subdivided or the land is not suitable for use as a resource management unit.

Financial contributions are an important tool which both enables the maintenance of existing reserve management areas and also assists in the establishment of new resource management units in areas which are lacking these important community resources.

20.6.2 By providing for new reserves in strategic locations to meet the needs of the community, through mechanisms such as land acquisition through subdivision, reserves contributions, easements and covenants. Objective 20.5.1
Objective 20.5.4

Future Reserve Management Units are to be located and designed to ensure the adequate provision of recreation and conservation land to meet the needs of the community. In order to do so resources can be obtained through the reserves contribution process, acquisition of esplanade reserves, and easements and covenants.

Future Reserve Management Units are to be located and designed to ensure the adequate provision of recreation and conservation land, including reserve linkages, to meet the needs of the community, particularly growing communities such as Mangawhai. In order to do so resources can be obtained through the reserves contribution process, acquisition of esplanade reserves, and easements and covenants.

20.6.3 By establishing linkages between reserves and open space areas where possible, in order to enhance biodiversity, physical ecosystem connections and recreational opportunities. Objective 20.5.1
Objective 20.5.2

Council, where possible, will seek to establish linkages between existing Reserve Management Units in order to enhance biodiversity and recreational opportunities. In addition, providing these linkages in the vicinity of the coast will also enhance access to and along coastal areas.

In order to do so Council will obtain financial / reserve contributions through Subdivision and Land Use Resource Consent applications where possible. These funds will then be used to both enhance and maintain existing reserve management areas and also acquire additional pieces of land for the purposes of establishing new Reserve Management Units.

20.6.4 By providing for the appropriate co-management of reserves with Iwi and the community. Objective 20.5.5

The opportunity for co-management of reserves with the Iwi and the Community is an important method in maintaining these district assets.

20.6.5 By identifying reserve and public open space areas and providing for the specific management needs of these areas. Objective 20.5.1

Reserve Management Plans and Conservation Plans are instruments to guide the management and development of public reserves and open spaces. The Plan provides a mechanism to recognise these existing instruments.

20.6.6 By managing activities adjoining and in close proximity to reserves. Objective 20.5.4

Activities may have actual or potential adverse effects on the amenity values and environmental values of Reserve Management Units. Activities adjoining or in close proximity to Reserve Management Units are to be managed to avoid, remedy or mitigate adverse effects on these areas.

20.7 Methods

20.7.1 District Plan Methods

20.7.1.1 Reserve Management Units are a tool to allow for the identification of reserves and public open space resources within the District. Management of land resources is governed by the underlying Zoning applicable to each Reserve Management Unit site.

20.7.1.2 Identification of Reserve Management Units in Part E – Maps (Map Series 2).

20.7.1.3 Chapter 22: Financial Contributions provisions allow for the collection of financial contributions for the acquisition or upgrading of reserve land.

20.7.1.4 Land Use Rules in underlying and adjacent Zones relating to buildings and amenity effects.

20.7.1.5 Resource Consent conditions.

20.7.2 Other Methods

20.7.2.1 Production, implementation and review of Reserve Management Plans (Reserves Act 1977).

20.7.2.2 Liaison with the Department of Conservation, Northland Regional Council and adjoining territorial authorities.

20.7.2.3 Taking of esplanade land in subdivisions incorporating waterways and watercourses.

20.7.2.4 Negotiate with private landowners where land cannot be legally taken.

20.8 Outcomes

20.8.1 The adequate provision of reserves (both active and passive) that meets community, recreational and conservation needs. Issue 20.4.2

20.8.2 The establishment, where appropriate, of reserve management linkages that enhance community, recreational and conservation functions of reserves and public open spaces. Issue 20.4.1

20.8.3 The adverse effects of activities on, or proximate to, reserves are avoided, remedied or mitigated. This includes effects on natural character, cultural/historic heritage, and recreational and amenity values. Issue 20.4.3

20.8.4 The natural, cultural, historic, recreational and amenity values of reserves and public open spaces are maintained and/or enhanced. Issue 20.4.4

20.9 Reserve Management Units Rules

If you have an adopted Reserve Management Plan, Conservation Management Plan or Conservation Management Strategy you only need to comply with Chapter 20. If there is no adopted Reserve Management Plan the underlying Zoning applies.

20.9.1 Permitted Activities

The following activities shall be Permitted Activities under this Chapter:

- a) Activities complying with the Performance Standards set out in Section 20.10 of this Chapter.

20.9.2 Restricted Discretionary Activities

The following activities shall be Restricted Discretionary Activities under this Chapter

- a) Activities that do not comply with the Performance Standards set out in Section 20.10 of this Chapter.

20.10 Permitted Activity Performance Standards
